

IN THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the paragraphs of the specification as follows:

[0004] When using a SIM card in a computer system, there is a need to securely access information from the SIM card in order to prevent accesses to the SIM from unauthorized software applications. Such accesses may be intended to learn certain SIM secrets or to break GSM authentication mechanisms and steal services provided.